Rising to the Moment – A Resurrection of Hope and Leadership

On April 4th, the Tomorrow's Leaders Program found new life at the Young Professionals Social Connect, hosted at a venue pulsing with energy and purpose. The timing of the event, just after Easter, was symbolic. Easter, a time of resurrection and new beginnings, reminds us that with each challenge comes an opportunity to rise. For Khanyisela College, this event echoed that same spirit: a reawakening of potential, direction, and future leadership.

Caitlyn Vasi (fourth from right) connected with a vibrant group of professionals and made meaningful new friendships.

Caitlyn Vasi, our Tomorrow's Leaders Program Coordinator, attended the event with a clear goal: to find partners and insights that could empower the young people in our program. What she left with was far more than expected. Among the powerful voices in the room were Leigh-Anne De Witt and Mbaso Mbatsha from Standard Bank, both of whom left a lasting impression, not just with their knowledge, but with their willingness to connect and uplift.

Leigh-Anne, a seasoned professional, spoke passionately about youth financial literacy, confidence in professional spaces, and the courage to step into leadership roles even when the path seems uncertain. Caitlyn described her as “a spark of clarity, someone who saw the potential in our youth and immediately asked how she could help.” That is the kind of resurrection we strive for: the rebirth of belief in ourselves and in the leaders of tomorrow.

Mbasa Mbatsha added yet another layer to the vision. Known for his work in entrepreneurship and youth development, Mbasa shared insight on building resilience in young people. He emphasised the importance of mentorship and consistent exposure to networks that encourage growth. Caitlyn noted how his approach mirrored the values we foster in our program: “He speaks the language of possibility. His story shows that transformation is not just a concept, it’s lived, fought for, and earned.”

As Easter reminds us that the end is never truly the end, but often the beginning of something greater, this event reminded Khanyisela College that we are in the season of rising. Our Tomorrow’s Leaders are not waiting, they are becoming. And with voices like Leigh-Anne and Mbasa walking alongside them, the journey is brighter.

Caitlyn’s presence at the Social Connect was more than a networking effort, it was a moment of divine alignment. In her words, “This was resurrection in motion. We left knowing that new life was breathed into the Tomorrow’s Leaders Program.”

Caitlyn with the Tomorrow’s Leaders interns.

As we move forward, we do so with renewed hope, deeper partnerships, and a firm belief: Tomorrow’s Leaders are already here; we’re just helping them rise.

TRAINING

This term, we kicked off our ongoing Study Skills workshops, expertly led by Euwen Hart and Wayne Myburgh. Designed especially for Grades 8–12, these sessions focus on practical CV development, interview preparation, and proven study techniques to boost confidence and performance. Held at various community venues, our interactive workshops give learners hands-on guidance—from crafting a standout résumé, to acing that all-important job interview. We're proud to empower young minds with the tools they need for academic success and future career growth. Stay tuned for upcoming dates and locations, and help us spread the word!

SALES AND MARKETING

On 25 April 2025, the Nelson Mandela Bay Business Chamber proudly hosted the Entrepreneurship Desk's third anniversary. The event brought together dynamic minds, innovators, and key players in the entrepreneurial ecosystem for a vibrant day of networking and celebration. Among the attendees were Shanaaz Jordan, our Marketing and Sales Supervisor, accompanied by the Managing Director, Tanya Kisten, and one of our enthusiastic marketing interns.

Their presence added great value as they actively engaged with entrepreneurs, exchanged insights, and explored collaborative opportunities.

This celebration marked a significant milestone for the Entrepreneurship Desk and reinforced a shared commitment to supporting small businesses and driving sustainable growth.

Khanyisela College was honoured to attend The Herald's 180th anniversary celebration a proud moment for local journalism. Congratulations to The Herald on this milestone. We value the media's role in supporting education and community growth.

We were pleased to be joined by our esteemed guests:

- Mbasa Mbatsha – Standard Bank
- Kurt Schroeder – Kwa Maxgaki High School
- Patrick Banda – Department of Education
- Clayton Kisten – Shareholder, Khanyisela College
- Siva Naidoo – Open V Com
- Nisha Naidoo – Absa

Thank you for your support and for sharing in this special occasion with us.

From Resurrection to Readiness – QCTO Update Now Live

In the spirit of Easter, a season that symbolises renewal, growth, and new life, Khanyisela College is proud to announce that our recent QCTO Information Session is now available online.

Hosted by our Managing Director, Tanya Kisten, the session provided valuable insights into the evolving landscape of qualifications and skills development under the Quality Council for Trades and Occupations (QCTO). It served as a powerful reminder that transformation begins with knowledge and access.

For many, the session marked a turning point, a moment of clarity in their educational journey. Learners gained a deeper understanding of accredited qualifications, how to align their studies with national demands, and the real opportunities available through skills development.

As Easter calls us to rise and embrace new life, so too does this session call our students and community to step into their next chapter. Whether you're a current learner, a recent graduate, or someone exploring their future path, the message is clear: the time to rise is now.

Visit our website to access the full session and stay informed about the important changes and opportunities that lie ahead. Let this be your season of growth, learning, and transformation.

Tomorrow's Leaders

Host Companies

The Tomorrow's Leaders Program continues to grow from strength to strength, and we're excited to announce new partnerships with Arcadia High School, SANCCOB and Khanyisela College as host companies for our learners. These organisations have opened their doors to our students, providing valuable workplace exposure, mentorship, and a space to develop real-world skills.

These partnerships mark an important step in preparing our youth for professional environments, while also strengthening community collaboration. We are deeply grateful to our host partners for believing in the potential of our future leaders.

If your company is passionate about youth development and would like to become a host or sponsor, we'd love to hear from you. Together, we can build a stronger future, one leader at a time.

Career Expo

Tomorrow's Leaders recently took part in the Andrew Rabie Career Expo held in Newton Park, where we joined a variety of educational service providers including Rhodes University, Nelson Mandela University (NMU), and Boston City Campus. The expo created a dynamic space for learners to explore future pathways and connect with institutions that are passionate about shaping young minds.

We engaged with students from Grades 8 to 12, sharing knowledge, sparking conversations, and encouraging them to think ahead about their dreams and goals.

The energy and curiosity of the learners were truly inspiring, and we're grateful to have played a part in an event that celebrates growth, learning, and the leaders of tomorrow.

Learner of The Month

Siyamthanda Mendu, NVC Learner

We're proud to recognise this month's standout learner, whose interactive approach and promising attitude have made a lasting impression in class. Her enthusiasm and commitment reflect the spirit of tomorrow's leaders.

Tomorrow's Leaders

Orientation Day

The Tomorrow's Leaders officially launched with a vibrant Orientation Day, where learners met their mentors for the first time and took part in a dynamic CV Speed Shop. The session was filled with energy, inspiration, and practical tools to get our learners ready for the journey ahead. It was a powerful start to what promises to be a life-changing experience.

Movie Day

Our Tomorrow's Leaders recently took a break from their busy schedules to enjoy a Movie Day, featuring the thriller Smile 2. While the film brought suspense and excitement, the experience offered more than just entertainment—it created space for laughter, connection, and conversations about fear, resilience, and facing challenges head-on. A well-deserved moment of fun for our future leaders!

NYDA Visits

This month, the National Youth Development Agency (NYDA) paid a special visit to our Tomorrow's Leaders group. Learners gained practical knowledge about available youth funding, entrepreneurship support, and how to access NYDA programs. The session also encouraged young people to start thinking about their personal growth and career planning early. It was an inspiring and informative experience that sparked excitement about future possibilities.

Tomorrow's Leaders Induction Highlights

On February 19, we had the opportunity to take our roadshow to Chetty Hall, where we connected with over 45 students, many of whom showed great interest in our Tomorrow's Leaders program. It was inspiring to see such enthusiasm from the students, and we are excited about the potential impact this initiative can have on their futures.

During our visit, we also had the pleasure of meeting the coordinator of Bloemendaal Riek, who generously offered his support and expressed interest in collaborating on future projects. His willingness to assist and work alongside us is truly appreciated, and we look forward to building a strong partnership.

We recently wrapped up a successful induction program, welcoming new learners and equipping them with the essential tools and knowledge to thrive. Designed to ensure a smooth transition, the program set the stage for their journey with us.

Throughout the induction, learners had the opportunity to engage with key leaders. View photos from our induction
