Taking things personally

QCTO visit successful.

We are good to go.

The QCTO (Quality Council for Trades and Occupations) conducted a site visit at the college to verify our Quality Management System (QMS). We are proud to announce that the visit was successful and our QMS system is up to date.

A word From the MD

2020 has proven to live up to its moniker – 20plenty! And has plenty happened in what has been a mere three months. The College started with a planning session on 17 January with good cause. It helped us weather the challenges and volume of work we faced, as kctalks took place, external verification from the Services SETA for more than a hundred learners exiting on full qualifications took place and a very well-received speedshop on how to tackle difficult conversations transpired.

Page through our new-look newsletter brimful of action for more details, including an introduction to our new Office Manager who promises to refresh our already tasty menu and a successful foray into East London.

Look out for the courses coming up in the next few months and be aware that the prices are increasing at the end of March. You can secure your place in a class at 2019 prices after March if you book and pay for it before 31 March. Another exciting development is that some skills programs are on offer as e-Learning – and part time evening classes commence in June! Call us now to avoid disappointment.

Keep developing,

Tanya

Kctalks is back in 2020!

We are proud to announce that kctalks is officially back in 2020, ready to bring you insightful information from our subject matter experts.

the second instalment taking place on Thursday 9 July 2020. The topic to be discussed will be Focusing on Youth and their development.

Hospitality, the talk show format, hosted by one of our shareholders and Head Facilitator, Roger Peters, and thus kctalks was born.

The first instalment called Financial skills for Entrepreneurs happened on 2 March 2020 hosted by our very own, Roger Peters. We had a great panel of speakers who are subject matter experts in their field.

kctalks will be airing three times a year with

The talk show is staged around the concept of living room banter and introduced by Khanyisela College ten years ago in response to a growing demand from clients for information sharing regarding skills development. In keeping with Khanyisela Colege's preference for warm

Calling all matriculants >>> Congratulations!

Less than 40% of you who were enrolled in grade 10 two years ago have made into matric. While that in itself is an achievement, less than 50% of you will achieve a bachelors pass and only a small percentage of those will actually go to a university. However, statistics show more than a third of graduates will be without work after they have put in the hard work and passed university.

So what now?

There are so many other options, none worse or better than the university prospect but all leading to gaining skills in order to be gainfully employed or achieve your dreams of having a professional career and caring for yourself and your family. Khanyisela College is looking for those of you in matric who are looking for options that are realistic, that won't break the bank, that will help you realise your dreams. Contact us now for an assessment date if you are interested.

Khanyisela College takes on East London

Bongiwe Mkosana, our Sales Consultant, originally from East London, did a roadshow at Hemingways Mall on 25 January 2020 which attracted a lot of interest from passers by. She also visited various potential clients who also received information about the college very positively. This venture into East London is the start of great things to come in this beautiful city.

HR Feature >>>

This segment focuses on the Human Resources element of the business. This exciting new feature will entail HR anecdotes, staff features, updates and HR tips from our highly qualified HR Manager, Nolitha Tshentu.

Welcome to KC, Melanie.

Q: How do you feel about your appointment?

A: I am very excited as I am a passionate individual who loves working with others and contribute to the company's overall performance.

Q: What are your strengths?

A: I am a peace maker, problem solver and a compassionate person.

Q: When is your birthday?

A: 6 August (I hope I will get lot's of presents, haha.)

Q: Is there anything else you would like to add regarding your new journey?

A: I would like to say that I am excited to be a part of the KC team and I hope that my presence will add value to Khanyisela College.

Q: What can we expect from you?

A: Expect an Office Manager with a fresh eye to developing the infrastructure, the appearance of Khanyisela College, looking after and promoting the brand. Be sure to expect great things from me.

Q: Describe yourself in two words.

A: Energetic and innovative
